Second School Assembly Scheduled October 30

The second in a series of Student Assemblies will be held next Friday, October 30, at 10 A.M. in Cohn Hall.

Designed to foster community spirit among the students, attendance at these assemblies is voluntary. Father Galvin, Dean of Studies, decided that since the assemblies are in the interest of the students, they should be regulated by the students' own attendance.

Speakers at this assembly will be Fr. Galvin and Reverend Father President. As at the first Assembly, the school song will be sung at the opening and closing.

Relation to Convocation

These assemblies are not designed to replace the Academic Convocations, but much of the business of the convocation will be completed in the Assemblies.

Schedule

Assemblies are scheduled for the rest of the year as follows:

Date	Time	Place
Dec. 2	1 P.M.	Gym
Jan. 15	10 A.M.	Cohn Hall
Feb. 24	1 P.M.	"
Mar. 30	1 P.M.	"
May 6	10 A.M.	"

Thomas Dwyer, President of the Student Body expressed the hope that students would show their true interest in the school by attending these assemblies. Fr. Galvin, he said, has given us a chance to show our maturity and we should take advantage of it.

Consensus on the first of this series, at which Dr. Harry Kirwin spoke on the idea of the "College as Community" was that they would be productive of interest and spirit among the students and would become more and more popular.

Yearbook Editors Offer Ad Rewards

by Richard C. Keene
Yearbook Assoc. Editor

For those interested in money and prizes the next few words will be good news: The Yearbook Ad Drive is now on.

This year, with the new position of the Evergreen Annual, should be one of vigorous ad sales. With a larger circulation, more definite readers, more and larger pages at the same rates, the possibilities for student sales of ads are extremely bright.

This article is addressed to those interested in money for these reasons: This year the Evergreen of 1960 is granting a 10% commission on any and all ads sold by students. Also as a special incentive to eager salesmen on campus,

NFCCS Sponsors Towson Mixer

The National Federation of Catholic College Students will sponsor a mixer, tomorrow, October 24, at 8:30 P.M. in the Student Center of Towson State Teachers College. Loyola's unit of NFCCS and the Baltimore Region of Newman Clubs will host this affair.

This, according to Robert Goldsmith, NF Senior Delegate, will make it possible for all students to participate in NF activities by attending the mixer.

Workshop

Catholic University, in Washington will be the scene of an NFCCS workshop, Sunday November 8. Beginning at 12 noon, the workshop is divided into five seminars, Literary, Liturgy, Student Government, International Relations and Mariology. Speakers prominent in these fields will address the seminars and lead discussions.

All students are invited to attend this workshop. They may contact the Senior delegate or John Baynes, Junior delegate.

a special cash prize of $25 will be awarded the student bringing in the greatest ad volume (i.e. largest monetary volume).

Yearbook Business Manager Tom Dwyer will have more information and ad blanks for those interested. Also, a special advertising office will be set up in Xavier Lounge in the near future. The hours this office will be open will be made public soon.

Staff Meetings

Editors are reminded that they are to meet every Monday at 3 P.M. in L-203. There will also be meetings of the individual staffs on later days in the week. The times and days for these meetings will be fixed by the editors themselves. Staffs are still open to any interested.

Freshmen Select Seven For Governing Board

For the next two months the freshman class will be ruled by seven individuals who were selected last week amid mass confusion. From a list of 14 candidates nominated last Wednesday at a class meeting seven freshmen were chosen as the Governing Board. The voting for these seven positions was carried on by 78 members of the Class of 1963, representing 32% of the class enrollment.

In order of vote plurality the seven Board members are: Tom Iampieri; Page Fried; Tom Bollinger; Tom Dailey; Carl Manfre; Mike Burton; and Jay Henkel.

Breaking the unwritten tradition that "Loyola High runs the Freshman Class", Tom Iampieri and Tom Dailey both are from Mt. St. Joe. Carl Manfre, on the Hound soccer team now, is from Calvert Hall. Jay Henkel is a graduate of McDonough, while Page Fried comes to Evergreen from Poly. There are two members from Loyola High, Mike Burton, and Tom Bollinger.

Voting was held immediately following the voiced nominations, and the ensuing counts resulted in several ties especially for the seventh position. After a second count and three more recounts the tie for seventh position remained. Using a clause in the Election ordinances which allows the Elections Committee a free hand in running these elections, the Committee Chairman chose to break the tie by a phone call poll of the highest 11 candidates. With this poll resulting in another tie, the selection of the last spot was made upon a comparison of the two results. Jay Henkel then became the seventh member.

The candidates who received an insufficient ballot total were: Charles Blair; Al Dietz; Ed Slawski; Jerry Zeller; Henry Becker; Joe Anton; and John Coyle.

Debate Season Begins Tomorrow At Trinity

Loyola's debate season begins tomorrow when the squad travels to Washington for a one day tournament at Trinity College.

Debates on current events and extemporaneous speaking will be the order of the day according to Tom Curtis, vice president of the local club. The woman's college will be host to teams from all the Catholic schools in the area which are affiliated with the Cardinal Gibbons League.

National Topic

Tournament debating on the national topic will begin on October 31 at the University of Maryland's practice meet and continue when American U. is host on November 14. Loyola debaters will face teams from all major schools in the Maryland-D.C.-Virginia area at these events.

This year's national topic is Resolved: that Congress should be given power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court. "Debating this topic will give Political Science majors invaluable experience," Curtis said, "and will help men in other curricula to acquire the knowledge of American government."

"We look forward to a good season, and we are very pleased with some top-quality Freshman talent," he concluded.

Economics Major Initiated Here

Twelve students in the junior year are following courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Economics. This is the first year this major field of concentration is offered by the Loyola Department of Accounting and Business Administration.

Dr. Doris Duffy Boyle, Associate Professor of Economics, will direct the courses.

A major in this field, says Dr. Boyle, will provide excellent background for various careers after graduation such as law, the communication arts, the priesthood, and teaching as well as professional economists in industry and government.

Basic to College Training

In the opinion of Dr. Boyle, a basic course in Economics is a necessary requirement for any college graduate, since intelligent citizenship demands an understanding of economic problems.

Considered by Dr. Boyle to be a most important aspect of these courses is the fact that well-trained Catholics are urgently needed for work in the various strategic fields which ultimately guide the history of the world.

Editorials

Student Assemblies

Paternalism is inherent in a hierarchical society such as Loyola. A fully democratic student government is incompatible with the philosophy of this institution. Growing up in the United States we often get the impression that democracy is the only acceptable form of government. In certain circumstances such as college, it is more feasible to use another form, such as paternalism where the final authority rests in others than the governed.

When paternalism extends to matters which are non-essential to the society, it often becomes oppressive. In the past this has occurred at Loyola and there has been long and loud protestation. What must be remembered, is that as parents, the administration must treat us as sons who are either mature or immature. When we acted as immature sons, the administration has often treated us as children which was odious to the mature members among us.

A monthly series of student assemblies has been initiated this year by the Dean of Studies. Attendance at these is voluntary. If we are mature students we will patronize these assemblies, because they are in our interest and one of the few times when we act as a corporate body.

School spirit is constantly being lamented here at Loyola. These assemblies can be a strong force to re-awaken school interest and feeling and should receive the support of every member of the student body.

Tempus Fugit

In Fall a college senior's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of Graduate School -- among other things which are not seasonal. The end of this month brings up deadlines for most of the major fellowship plans and examinations.

Running down the list chronologically we find that tomorrow, October 24, is the deadline for the Aptitude Test for Graduate Study in Business. The placement Office can handle any and all applicants who hope to break into the world of executive suites and capital gains.

All budding Clarence Darrows are reminded that October 31 is the deadline for the Law Aptitude Test. Mr. Jon O'Brien or Dr. Harry Kirwin are campus representatives for this.

One of the most prestigious and "Available" fellowships is the Woodrow Wilson. One thousand awards of up to $1500 are granted annually on a regional basis for study in U. S. graduate schools. The awards extend for a period of one year for those interested in a career in college teaching. October 31 is the deadline and Dr. Charles Hands will be glad to receive more than the two applications already made.

Traveling fellows are reminded that November 1 is deadline for Fulbright awards for study in Europe. Mr. Morgan Pritchett is representative here on campus.

The brain racking Graduate Record Examination, which is required by many schools also has its deadline fast approaching on November 6. The Placement Office will be the place to go for information.

It may be long from May to December but June comes around before you think.

Greyhound Salutes: Joseph M. O'Hara

Studies, sports, and student activities can be well blended, providing the mixture occurs in the right personality. Senior Joe O'Hara illustrates this. Joe's many interests on and off campus are enough in themselves. But mere participation has not been enough for him: he has aimed at excelling in all of them.

Whenever Joe's name is mentioned, his basketball prowess comes up for discussion. Basketball is his main claim to fame as far as those off campus are concerned, but his fellow members of the senior class often think of him as the constant inhabitant of the east end of the cafeteria who is constantly drumming up business in his capacity as Senior Class President. Joe is the fellow who was elected, unopposed, to the office.

Asides from being Senior Class President and Co-captain of the basketball team, Joe is a member of the Student Council. He is in the upper section of his class academically and is vice-president of the local chapter of Alpha Sigma Nu, the Jesuit honor fraternity.

He was married October 17 to Margaret Wiedefeld, I.N.D. graduate. With this addition to his long list of on and off campus jobs, he will be known as the married, basketball-captaining, class president, honor student. Joe plans on graduate school in the field of engineering management. Currently enrolled in the Engineering-Physics course at Loyola, Joe is a graduate of Poly.

Joe considers his biggest thrill in college basketball to be in last year's tilt with Adelphi in which he dropped in a 25 foot jump shot with just twelve seconds remaining to give his team the game. This year he is looking forward to helping the Athletic Department beat Mt. St. Mary's at least three times.

Joe is the oldest of four brothers, all of whom have shown themselves proficient in the art of basketball.

the Watchdog

By JOHN QUINN

Maybe the Green and Gray (What's that?) would be interested to know that there are some freshmen on campus with the burning souls of musicians. One of these, John Gardecki performed a piano solo the other night, on the same bill with the Princeton Nasoons, at Mt. St. Agnes. It would be nice if Mr. Truax (The Greyhound) could have some musical accompaniment as he performs very much alone in front of a seemingly unappreciable audience.

Somewhat along the same lines, it would be interesting to note that the Green and Grey asked for some applicants to become cheerleaders and as usual got none. Does everyone know that Lefty Reitz has offered to outfit said cheerleaders? Now if it means that much to someone who knows, how can the student body pass over this request so lightly?

Recently, sophomore John Baynez spoke to the Kiwanis Club, concerning his work with Junior Achievement. It is good to know that there are some underclassmen who are desirous of doing just a little more than they have too.

Usually the only difference between freshmen and sophomores is that while one just thinks everybody is crazy, the other knows it.

However, it might be wise to add that they are not alone in this feeling. The juniors are undecided as to who really is crazy, and the Seniors don't care.

Our wandering, talking faculty: Dr. Neigherben at the University Club on his Laos experiences . . . Fr. Lavin giving the Investiture talk at Mt. St. Agnes . . . Fr. Scanlan at the Maryland Penitentiary, at the Young Catholic Workers, and, on campus, to the student body on the recent Post article on Sex Ethics . . . Dr. Boyle at the Newman Club at Western Maryland College.

Capt. Wightman Career Officer Assigned Here

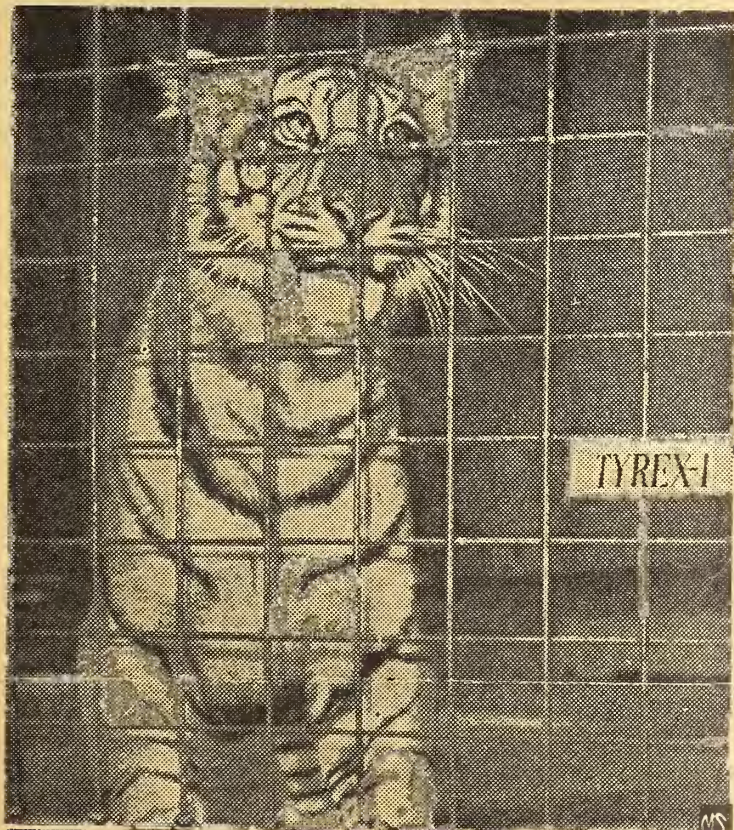

Captain John D. Wightman, a career Infantry officer, has been assigned to Loyola College as an Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics. He relieves Captain Nelson Ritter as executive officer of the ROTC detachment here and will teach tactics to the senior and junior cadets.

A 1949 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, Capt. Wightman has completed courses at the Ground General School, Fort Riley Kansas and the Infantry Officer's Basic Class, Ranger Class and Advanced Class at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Capt. Wightman spent 13 of his 16 month Korean tour of duty in combat with the First Cavalry Division. He participated in 5 of the major campaigns of the Korean conflict and was awarded the Bronze Star for valor. This award was presented for leadership of a supply column through heavy enemy artillery barrage.

Prior to his transfer to Loyola, Capt. Wightman was in the G-2 section of VII Corps Headquarters in Germany. He now lives with his wife and four children in the Hamilton section of Baltimore.

HE'S BLUE FOR A ZOO

It's bad enough having a tiger by the tail, but what to do with the whole tiger? That's the problem facing a New York tire cord manufacturers' association sponsoring a training contest for 25,000 U. S. and Canadian tire dealerships. To give "living glamour" to the competition, the association purchased this nine-month-old 100-pound Bengal tiger, Tyrex I. Looking ahead to the termination of the contest, association officials are now seeking a permanent home for Tyrex I at one of the many U. S. zoos. To date their offer has brought a "Thanks, but no thanks" response. Tiger, anyone?

Power Of Advertising Management Talk Topic

Advertising is a well-paying profession wielding a power in our culture on a par with institutions such as the school and the Church, Daniel J. Loden, '39 told the Management Club at its meeting last Friday.

The Loden lecture, second in the fall series of events planned by president Bob Magaha, followed the boat tour of Baltimore harbor held one week earlier.

Mr. Loden vice president of Van Sant, Dugdale & Co., Baltimore advertising agency, reported to the management men that opportunities in advertising are wide open for qualified, hard working men. He backed up the statement with job descriptions and salary figures for both the local and New York scene and emphasized the value of college newspaper and publication work.

The impact of advertising on the media of television, radio, magazines and newspapers makes it a powerful force in today's world, the speaker said.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By BOB REITER

Ass't Sports Editor

Georgetown University is the next foe of the Loyola soccer team. The two teams meet tomorrow on the Hoya's home field in Washington D.C. The Hounds will be trying to avenge last year's 4-2 loss. Game time is 2:30 P.M.

Loyola lost a bitterly contested game one week ago at Emmitsburg. The score was 3-1. Captain Jerry Beck put the Hounds in front in the first period. But two quick Mountie goals in the second quarter gave the hosts a 2-1 lead at the half. A penalty shot goal in the third period insured the game for the Mount.

The loss was Loyola's second without a win. They also have a tie to their record, but have yet to play a bad game. Beck has consistently been the sparkplug of the team. Two freshmen, goalie Don Wallenhorst and center half-back Dennis Ray have also helped the team.

This coming Tuesday, October 27, the booters will play their first game at Evergreen. The Yellowjackets of Randolph-Macon will be the opponent for the 3:00 P.M. game. Last year down in Virginia these two teams battled to a 2-2 double-overtime deadlock. The Hounds should win this game, and Coach Tommy Lind is hoping that a good portion of the student body will turn out to see the game. One thing is practically certain; anyone who views the game will not be disappointed with the outcome.

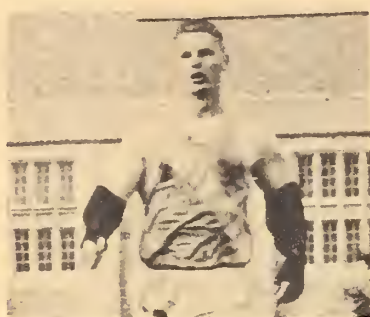

TENNIS. In the first annual Mason-Dixon tennis tournament, which was held here last weekend, Bob Barron of Johns Hopkins defeated Carl Hannah of American U. in three straight sets for the singles title. Barron's strong ground game was too much for the Eagle's racketeer.

Don Torres and Jim Fowler, the two Greyhound entries, succumbed to strong opposition in the quarter-finals.

Sherman Breaks Mount Record By 39 Seconds

By LAWRENCE R. STURM

Last Friday Loyola's Cross-country team established a new school record of eleven consecutive dual meet victories by defeating Mount St. Mary's 23 to 32.

Paul Sherman broke the Emmitsburg course record by 39 seconds as he recorded his second first in as many meets this year. Sophomore Lew Smith was second man for Loyola, finishing fourth in the meet. Stack Burton helped give Loyola three out of the first five places by finishing fifth. Freshmen Mike Burton and Hank McGraw were the other Loyola finishers in the first ten as the harriers won their second meet of the year.

In their first meet of the year with Galludet, Loyola swept the first seven places in the meet. The order in which they finished was: Paul Sherman, Lew Smith, Hank McGraw, Stack Burton, Will Jenkins, Mike Burton, Mike Abromatis and Wayne Leidner.

Coach Bill McElroy was pleasantly surprised with the showing of freshman runners McGraw, Jenkins and M. Burton.

The harriers face Towson this coming Tuesday, away, at 3 o'clock.

Anything At All

Hollywood Frank Schap runs the cross country course in shades . . . Ken Freimuth, freshman nator, is the son of Dr. Henry Freimuth, instructor in chemistry . . . sports this week: Tuesday soccer (H) & x-country (A); Friday, soccer (H) & x-country (H) . . . Nap Dougherty, who does such a tremendous job as intramural head, is probably the most misquoted man in town . . . Tom Lind, soccer coach is a ringer for Clark Kent . . . don't miss the Moleskin news notes in the gym. . . congratulations to basketball co-captain, Joe O'Hara, who entered into marital bliss last Saturday.

MEET THE COACH

Bill McElroy, x-country

Without a doubt, Bill McElroy is one of the best known figures on campus. There is scarcely a student at the college who has had no dealings with "Mac", as he is usually called, in his capacity as proprietor of the bookstore. If, however you were to ask who is the coach of Loyola's cross-country or track team, you might be surprised to find that a number of students are not aware of the fact that it is Bill McElroy.

"Mac" has been coaching at Loyola since 1946, during which time his teams have done a fine job of representing Loyola.

"Mac" was an outstanding high-school athlete at Mount St. Joseph. He won a total of twelve Gael letters for his participation in track, soccer and cross-country. He was All-Maryland in soccer for two years, and Maryland Scholastic mile champ for one.

He graduated from Mt. St. Joseph in 1935. After graduation, he went to work at Bethlehem Steel, and at the same time he became a sportswriter for the Community Press of Dundalk. It was in this capacity as sportswriter that Mac organized the Steel Bowl football game which is an annual classic in sandlot football.

This was but a sample of Mac's great interest in athletics and the development of youth, for he later became, and still is, a promotional leader for the Bureau of Recreation.

The other great interest in Mac's life is his family. He has four children, Billy 16, Mary Pat 11, JoAnn 9, and David 3.

Intramural Items

By MATT SCHWIENIECK

The first intramural tennis match saw Cook defeat Moleskin Bavis 6-2, 6-1. Moleskin Hodnett forfeited to Taylor.

A dark horse has appeared on the tennis courts. The word is that freshmen Jim Mohler is an excellent tennis player. Competitors beware!! He may sneak off with the tennis title.

Those who submitted their names for tennis intramurals, should contact Nap Dougherty, who will set the date and time to play your match.

Football

In intramural football the Moleskins came from behind to tie the Dukes 13-13.

The Molemen opened the scoring with a quick pop pass from Lumpe to Bavis. Pessagno grabbed a pass from Lumpe for the extra point.

The Dukes then scored two touchdowns in quick succession. One on a pass from Stumpe to Glorioso and the other on an interception by Stumpe. Stumpe caught a pass for one extra point while the other try was blocked.

The champion Vets swamped the Okee Fen Okee 39-0.

Perry passed for four touchdowns, ran for one, and intercepted a pass and scored. Twardowicz grabbed three of Perry's heaves while big Franny White hauled in the other one.

The extra points were scored by Corcoran, Malleck, and Santoni.

Swimming

The freshmen annihilated the Sophomores and Juniors in the 1959 swimming intramurals held in the school pond.

The beanie clad mermen took six of the seven events to garner a total of 48 points. The Juniors, Joe Curran, Brian Flannery, and Charlie Carey combined their talents for a total of 16 points. The Soph's collected a total of six.

Two records fell in the meet and one was tied. Ken Freimuth broke the 50 yard backstroke record of 35.5 set in 1958 by Mike Ennis. His time was 43.2.

The 50 yard freestyle record of 27.5 set in 1954 by Al Filar was broken by Phil Young. Phil was clocked at 26.5.

Soph Jim Sydnor tied his record of 33.1 set last year in the 50 yard butterfly.

Marty Pilsch and Freimuth tied for first place in diving both having 40 points.

Phil Young won the 25 yard freestyle with a clocking of 12.6.

The 25 yard breaststroke was won by Ken Freimuth. Ken swam the distance in 15.1.

Freshmen Pilsch Ramos, Highstein, and Ames combined to win the 100 yard relay in 57.9.
